Albatross held a talon to his head "At least answer my questions. Where am I? What happened to my sister? Is she dead? Where is my grandson?" He seemed to have lost some memories of the time and date.

epicdragon3080

Yes,but how and why?I don't see why a Mudwing like him could breathe the gas.If you give an explanation that he can breathe this gas,I will let you have this ability.Here is my explanation if you have no other: When he was a dragonet,he was partily stung in the neck by a Hivewing's paralyzing venom.But since he was only partly stung,he would not be paralyzed.However,the venom seeped into his fire glands and mixed with the fire,so now his breath can partly paralyze dragons aka puting them to sleep for 1-6 hours(it can't be too OP) he can breath this gas when he is hot.

Sorry,destroyer have poisoness silk instead?Here's my explanation:
Destoryer was bitten by a viper but when her was swallow by the plat,it's saliva halped combat the poison.So he only has scars where the posison travelled.But the silk's poison will affect him if he uses it too often,and he has sores from the poison.
Otherise,the character will be too OP
